Narrative: 1

I was working IAD Sector X. IAD was landing north. Randomly I see a yellow data block pop up in my airspace at 2200 MSL in front of Aircraft Z in the IAD downwind at 3000. Sector Y controller yells and tells me, referring to the yellow data block aircraft, that Aircraft A is talking to Sector Z, they're going in to DC. So now I have known traffic that is in the face of my Aircraft Z and I only have one out. While debating on what to do about this situation, I now notice ANOTHER Company X aircraft climbing south east bound off Manassas and climbing through 2300 toward another aircraft I have on the final for 01R straight in at 3000. Two separate Company X aircraft departed HEF VFR and called Sector Y and were allowed to fly directly into the path of two turbojet aircraft without my knowledge in my airspace.

Synopsis

PCT TRACON Controller reported multiple conflicts occurred between IFR and VFR aircraft in IAD Class B airspace and suggested that the airspace design does not allow for safe traffic flow.
